That the fossil record, in general, suggests evolution is certainly an important piece of evidence, but it becomes even more telling when it is combined with other evidence for evolution. For example, the fossil record is consistent in terms of biogeography — and if evolution is true, we would expect that the fossil record would be in harmony ...

How Fossil Evidence Supports Evolution

(1) God planted the fossils as a test of Faith. (2) Satan planted the fossils to mislead us to fill up Hell with ever burning souls. Whichever it is - doesn't really matter. You can only believe what is in the Bible.

Fossils were Placed by God to Test Faith : atheism

"I tell you, if these become silent, the stones will cry out!" Lk 19:40 (NASB) Charles Darwin and those of similar materialistic belief seek to involve the fossil record in their philosophical faith. Upon close examination of the fossil record, even if we ignore that the flood described by Genesis is the most likely source, the fossils themselves testify to the accuracy of the Creation ...

On the basis of strict evidence — not “faith” — I argue in Science and Human Origins that in the context of human evolution good examples of transitional fossils are conspicuously lacking. But I am open to the possibility that transitional fossils might exist, and in other contexts, I do think there are some plausible examples of transitional fossils.

Faith and Fossils - LESTER L. GRABBE : Eerdmans

The history of life recorded by fossils presents compelling evidence of evolution. The fossil record is incomplete. Of the small proportion of organisms preserved as fossils, only a tiny fraction have been recovered and studied by paleontologists. In some cases the succession of forms over time has been reconstructed in detail.

Now, in 2015, paleontologists have discovered a myriad of fossils that could be considered intermediates, despite the fact that some very publicly still state these fossils don't exist.

Four Famous Transitional Fossils That Support Evolution

Fossils are important evidence for evolution because they show that life on earth was once different from life found on earth today. Usually only a portion of an organism is preserved as a fossil, such as body fossils (bones and exoskeletons), trace fossils (feces and footprints), and chemofossils (biochemical signals).
